COVER STORY 1 - SUHAIL AND SHAMEEN

JAB WE MET AT JAI HIND COLLEGE A 22 YEAR OLD LOVE STORY

WE ARE SHAMEEN & SUHAIL AND THIS IS OUR STORY...

What the Campion and St Anne's common playground couldn't do in 10 years of school, the Jai Hind College steps managed in 2 months.

Suhail and I both grew up living minutes away from one another and went to neighbouring schools. Yet, we had never met or heard of one another, up until our first year (2000) at Jai Hind College. If you ask Suhail when he first saw me, he has a vivid memory of a girl, who unabashedly and unapologetically chomped down on what she thought was a well deserved, rather large samosa at the end of a successful French Club Fashion Show. That was his very first memory of me! I, on the other hand, had no idea he existed in that moment, clearly it was a really good samosa.

Suhail was a science student and I - Arts. He was fun loving and carefree while I was studious and terribly serious. We couldn't have been more different. Over the next few weeks he tried his best to get to know me, to see which friends we had in common so maybe we could get a chance to meet. I was uninterested and didn't give him time of day! I never skipped a class and would go home as soon as my classes were done. I wasn't like the other kids. To me, college meant studying, not wasting time, staying back to hang out after! One fine day Suhail managed to get introduced to me through some common friends. I didn't think much of him apart from the fact that his smile was annoyingly charming. Little did I know how persistent this boy could be.

We soon became part of a common group of friends, one that met every single day! We slowly started to get to know one another and his once annoying smile was now nothing but charming. As I spent more time with him, I found that he was funny, witty, kind and so very intelligent. I was shy, unsure, and almost underconfident. He had an effervescent personality, one that I was more and more drawn to with each passing day. We were a classic case of "opposites attract"! Slowly we became good friends, friends that could spend hours together effortlessly. We found comfort, laughter and trust in one another. This bond we shared was deep, very different from anything I had ever shared with another friend. At some point we both realised that what we felt was perhaps more than a friendship. On the 28th of June 2001 Suhail "officially asked me out" in the middle of the street outside a Baskin Robbins just around the corner from college. This happened while all of our friends drove up and down cheering for us as he asked! We were now officially dating and the rest is history. This June of 2023 Suhail and I would have been together 22 years. We have now known each other for more than half our lives! He was and is to this day my FIRST love, my highschool sweetheart, my fiance and now my husband and partner. Our journey began at Jai Hind and it was straight out of a romance novel. The foundation of our relationship was rock solid and that helped us deal with what was to come as the years rolled by.

Suhail and I dated for a decade before we decided to get married! In these 10 years we were mostly apart! Suhail moved to Pune in 2002 to pursue a degree in Mechanical Engineering while I stayed back in Bombay at Jai Hind to pursue a Psychology degree. This wasn't easy but we made it work. Suhail came back to me weekend after weekend, year after year, as my parents were not keen on me going to Pune. He did this for 5 years unfailingly! In this time we had both graduated and were thriving in great jobs. In 2006 while I was working at Tata Sky (my first real corporate job) I felt the itch to go to England to pursue my Masters.

The only problem with this plan was that we would now be further apart! I felt terribly torn but I knew this was something I had to do. In 2007 I left for the Leeds Business School. This was harder than we had thought it would be! Technology had evolved a lot by then so we could use Skype to video call each other everyday for free! If we hadn't had that I'm not sure how we would have survived that distance. Leeds was incredible, I met the nicest people, had the best professors and my overall experience of learning while being away from home could not have been better! That was the year I found myself, found out who I really was. I had a very sheltered upbringing and always felt a bit lost. That year at Leeds changed everything. While I was on this journey, I had changed and this caused friction for the first time in our relationship! This was scary, something neither one of us was prepared for but we worked around it and stayed committed to one another. I wanted to stay back and work in the UK once I graduated, however, peak recession coupled with a debilitating knee injury meant that I had to put those plans to rest. I moved back to Bombay in 2008 and that's when Suhail decided to go to Cass Business School (Now Bayes Business School) in London! We had a few months together until Suhail left in 2009. One more year of long distance, could we do it? Only time would tell!

The year Suhail was at Cass, was an eye opener for both of us. While it wasn't easy we were 100% committed to another. Suhail graduated and moved back home in 2010. We were now almost a decade into this relationship and had a more serious discussion about our plans for the future. We couldn't imagine our lives without each other and were sure that we wanted to get married. This was the first time in our relationship that things got a bit "filmy"! You see, Suhail comes from the Sikh community and I, a Muslim! While his family had no issue with us whatsoever, mine had lots of reservations! My mother, born and raised in Karachi - Pakistan came from a religious muslim home. For her and her family this came as a bit of a shock! Suhail and I strongly believed that whatever your faith, caste or community may be, if your values and fundamentals as humans align, the rest is just irrelevant! We were truly sure of our decision to be together and build a life together and so we gave it time. We let my family process this respectfully and slowly we won everyone over. So much so that I think that they now love him more than they love me! A special mention to our grandmothers who we were most worried to break this news to, were the coolest of the lot and actually cheered us on!!! Suhail then asked permission from my parents to propose in Jan 2011 and we got married that September, with all our loved ones by our side. It was a week-long celebration of love and togetherness, one that neither of us will ever forget!

What are we up to now? 12 years into being partners and parents...

Suhail and I were together for a decade before we married. We thought being married would be a cakewalk, not much different from the ease we felt in those prior years of courtship. We soon realised that we cannot take that for granted, we soon realised that being partners as adults takes work!

We have had a great run with lots of ups and downs along the way. We got a dog! We named him Bailey (RIP - forever in our hearts - Bailey Bear). Moved cities (Bombay to Pune) the first year we got married. The plan was just one year but we stayed 5! (then moved back to Bombay in 2018) There was magic and madness! There were months where we were totally broke, not knowing how we would make rent or pay any of our bills. We had some tough times, we worked hard and life got better and better one day at a time! We travelled the world, built our careers and made friendships and memories to last a lifetime.

In our last year in Pune, Suhail decided to quit his job and become an entrepreneur. This was an exciting yet terribly scary time. Suhail took a leap of faith to act on an idea that had been brewing for a while. He went on to co-found BrightBrain - a digital marketing firm. When Suhail became a part of BrightBrain in 2015, the team had 6 people. Today BrightBrain proudly has 60! The team is brilliant and diverse in terms of age, gender and geography! They specialise in marketing strategy, performance marketing, search engine optimisation and social media marketing amongst other creative services. Their clientele covers a wide spectrum of industries, including real estate, D2C brands, automotive, B2B companies and lifestyle. In the years prior to this life changing decision, I was finding my footing in Pune. I was out of a job, with nothing on the horizon. My areas of interest were fashion and marketing and opportunities for this sector were few and far between in Pune. I was at my lowest as I had worked ever since I was 15. Starting with volunteer work, to becoming a teen entrepreneur (I designed and manufactured shoes for 3 years), to making a ton of money but realising that it wasn't for me. Working at Tata Sky in a totally corporate environment to head business development for a boutique European luxury brand, I had really let myself explore and learnt so much about myself along the way. Now here I was, totally lost!

Little did I know that the universe had its own plans... We got introduced to a pair of Expats living in Pune who were looking for a corporate trainer for their corporate training firm. They wanted someone who has NO prior experience in training so that they could train them. We met casually over dinner and I was hired by them that night! I had no idea what I was doing but they were so dead sure that I would do great. Boy was I surprised! Training came naturally to me and I had the best time learning from them. Things could not have been better until my knee injury came back to haunt me in style! I had another fall and couldn't physically train any longer. I served my notice wondering what I would do next (I now consult as a trainer and head mentor for work readiness and career training with children and young adults). I have realised over the years that the universe works in mysterious ways and I have learnt to trust the process!

Once I had recovered and healed, Suhail and I decided we wanted to be parents soon! Little Alena (Alena means light!) was born soon after in November 2016. Alena is now 6 and is the very best of the both of us! She is a firecracker and is growing up to be an incredible little human. She is the centre of our little universe, our pride and joy. These feelings only grow stronger with each passing day as we watch her grow with sheer amazement and wonder! I would like to end this article by saying this, that now, as parents, we often forget that we are so much more to one another than just mum and dad to Alena. It was just us for so long before she came along and we need to acknowledge and respect that too! We make the time, just him and I, doing the simple things we once did back in the day. Things that made us feel happy, connected and so in love! Jai Hind Junior College was where it all started.

We are Shameen and Suhail, and this is our story...

COVER STORY 2 - GAURAV SHARMA

GAURAV SHARMA SPEAKS TO FELLOW ALUMNUS MS HETAL KOTAK THE 5 MAGICAL YEARS OF MY LIFE

Gaurav Sharma (GS), also GS (General Secretary), Jai Hind College.

First Impression

My first impression and something that I have carried with me till today; the very first address to us freshers in the awe – inspiring college auditorium, by our dashing Principal, Professor Shivdasani (or Shivi as we lovingly called him) dressed in all whites, in his sharp, inspiring, nasal voice “I WILL AND I CAN”

And till today, whenever I am in a phase of introspection, my rescue mantra is our college motto “I WILL AND I CAN”

The Formative 90's

The early 90's was a very interesting phase as the country was opening up, new career options were taking shape, awareness for new avenues had begun, including in the field of entertainment, it was a complete turn around.

Jai Hind led that march with all the professors at college encouraging students to think Out of the Box. A new future was unravelling...

Home Away from Home

To me, college was like a second home. Or should I say, it was 'home'. The classrooms, the canteen, the shed, the green room, the auditorium, the fellow students, the college staff and of course the nearby haunts, Yankee Doodle, Satkaar, Eros Cinema, Satyams, Crossiants and Marine Drive,

Wanted to wake up every morning, catch bus no 108 from Hanging Garden and head straight to college (the canteen and auditorium mostly).

The Wonder Years

I was very active on the 'Performing Arts' front right from the start (elocution, debates, hosting, singing, acting) and thus jumped straight into being part of most of the clubs - Hindi Parishad, The Social and Dramatic Union, English Association, Gujarati Sahitya Mandal, Sindhi Circle and even the French Club.

I strongly believe (and I'm sure you agree) that Jai Hind is a great platform to prepare oneself for the world outside, a melting pot for students coming together from different socio economic backgrounds, be it for a future in academics or any other field. On a personal front, post completing my BCom, I went on to do an MBA from NMIMS before embarking on my professional career which included Advertising, Retail, Radio (Radio Mirchi, Radio City), Entertainment and Digital Media.

Last Position held

Chief Content and Digital Officer – Fever Fm, Radio Nasha, Radio One and Punjabi Fever. Theatre and Music Professional, Podcaster and Host of the 'Night Shift' on Radio One and Station Voice of Radio Nasha as Sharma.

My Mantra

RRR

Be Radical but still stay Relevant and maintain healthy Relations.

It was not something that was thrust down upon us but when you think about it, these were our college values too. Of being radical and unique but still being inclusive.

In terms of relations, some of my best relationships even today are my college mates and the professors. A visit to the college is always welcoming and warm.

They say the most beautiful things in life need to be experienced... I am glad I experienced Jai Hind.

The Future Will be all about collaborations. That will be the key.

Thank you

A special shout – out to the entire team at Jai Hind for being such inspirations to us all and guiding us through a very important phase of our life.

COLUMN BY LIFE COACH MS FARHANA VOHRA "THE INTELLIGENT GAP"

Dear friends,

I want to share a word that I genuinely love; "Grace." Grace is being able to be centered and composed. It is the lightness of being, to tread softly in life and to be more agreeable. When saying yes is what gives the moment happiness rather than getting your way. Not because you are a pushover but because that person(s) matters more than the decision ahead.

I love the words of Viktor Frankl, Austrian neurologist, psychologist, and holocaust survivor: "Between stimulus and response, there is a space. In that space is our power to choose our response. In our response lies our growth and our freedom."

So, choose wisely; how many times have we lost time and regretted it later. How many times have we missed an opportunity to mend a relationship?

We only have this life; we share the boat of life with a few people, some we have inherited, some we have chosen, but ultimately this is it.

Love is the only reason we are here; hopefully, it will always be there. So be careful, and widen the gap between stimulus and response; the more the space, the more connected we will be. Take a pause, agree more, and love deeper even if it hurts.

I am on a break for a month but will be back soon; meanwhile, stay well and safe.

1) What is your fondest memory of college?

Every day I spent in Jai Hind is engraved as the fondest memory in my mind, it was hands down the best 5 years of my life. All my years in college have revolved around organising events and so if I had to pick one from the basket it definitely has to be when in my final year I received "The Shivy Award" for being the student of the year, it felt like life had come full circle because I was always inspired by Shivy Sir right from the very beginning.

2) Your favourite hangout spot in college?

I was always almost everywhere in college, juggling between lectures and events constantly, but if I was asked the place that brought comfort & peace to my heart it has to be my Sindhi Circle. The vibe of that room is enough to lift you up on a bad day and add to your excitement on a good day. Every corner of that room substantiates the love and effort of every student secretary & the hard-work that they have put in along with their team to make their year success packed.

3) Your favourite Professor?

Ms. Kajal Ramchandani, she was never a Professor to me but she was, is and will forever remain a mother. I have never in my life come across a soul as beautiful as hers. She has supported me and made me a better person in the 5 years that I spent in college. She is the epitome of righteousness and warmth and she has always guided me to become a better version of myself. Even today I require her blessings for every significant event in my life, such as our bond.

4) Your message/advice to the current students?

Being a Jai Hindite has taught me that while it is extremely important to focus on your academics, it is equally or more important to focus on your extracurriculars because that is what will shape your personality and teach you the soft skills that are the most important for the years to come. Lastly, there is nothing like college life to be honest, if I were given a choice today, I'd just want to relive organising one event & experience the adrenaline rush that comes with being backstage. So grab this opportunity and make the most of your years at this phenomenal institution. Good Luck :)

MS ABHA AJMERA

Abha Ajmera studied in the Arts stream in Jai Hind College from 2005 – 2007, after which she pursued a Bachelor of Arts with a Major in Psychology as well from Jai Hind, from 2007 – 2010. She completed her Master's of Arts in Psychology (Clinical) from the University of Mumbai. She has also volunteered at various institutions such as KEM Hospital, Thane Mental Hospital, Dongri Remand Home, Akanksha, etc. She worked for a year at a private clinic, post which, she has been associated with the Psychoanalytic Therapy and Research Centre (PTRC). She is trained in psychoanalytic psychotherapy and works with children and adults at the PTRC clinic, dealing with patients suffering from all kinds of difficulties.

1. What is your fondest memory of the college?

Participating in the Psych fest. Spending time with friends not just in college but also travelling to and fro with them. The graduation ceremony (having John Abraham hand out the certificates was a cherry on the top) was a great time to reminisce all the good times that we had spent in college.

2. Your favourite hangout spot in college?

Canteen, eating mirchi sada dosa.

3. Your favourite Professor?

Ms. Sonal Sethna, Ms. N. K. Jyothi.

4. Your message/advice to the current students?

Enjoy your time in college. Don't be afraid to explore, participate in as many events, attend lectures (as the faculty is great) make many friends and keep in touch with them!!! One doesn't necessarily make as many new friends later in life.

KARISHMA MALKANI

Karishma Malkani's journey is certainly an inspiring one for many aspirant business woman. Karishma has developed her interpersonal skills over a period of time and has been successfully running her venture "Kanyadaan matrimonials" since Dec 99.

After getting married in 1997 her husband Suneel encouraged her to start something on her own where she could be a people's person.
