

Department of Economics (BA)

About the department:

The Department of Economics serves both Commerce and Humanities students, offering full majors to top performers in the final year. The curriculum includes nine Economics papers at the BA level and three Business Economics papers at the BCom level. Graduates often continue their studies at prestigious institutions and secure placements at top companies like CitiBank, Google, and Ernst & Young, as well as NGOs like Teach for India, excelling in diverse fields such as finance, research, and social services.

Message from the HOD:

I have had the privilege of heading the Department of Economics for the past 10 years now and I have witnessed the phenomenal growth that we have made as a department. Our four-member faculty team has always strived to bring out the best in our students and today we are very proud of the achievements of our students in all fields. Our students have broken records and set higher & higher benchmarks, be it in academics or in the corporate world; at research or in the domain of social service. There is immense potential in the field of economics, and we as a department
